

ELO ANNOUNCES NEW HUDDLE ROOM SOLUTION SIMPLIFYING OFFICE COLLABORATION

Elo's new Huddle Kit and touchscreen displays create an easy-to-install, turnkey collaboration solution to help keep corporate teams engaged and productive in the 'new normal'

Milpitas, CA.— Elo, a leading global provider of interactive solutions, today announced its new Huddle Kit, an accessories bundle that pairs seamlessly with Elo’s award-winning 4K interactive displays to provide an ideal collaboration and video conferencing solution for businesses. As corporate offices continue to reopen post-COVID, there’s an increased focus on smaller ‘huddle’ meeting rooms supporting a hybrid mix of office-based and remote employees. With Elo’s new huddle room solution, IT leaders simply add their current collaboration software to provide a complete interactive system that fosters engagement amongst users, regardless of location.

“In this new normal that focuses on smaller huddles and remote workers, Elo’s new collaboration solution creates an easy way to boost engagement”, said Neeraj Pendse vice president of global product management, Elo. “We’ve assembled everything needed – including an enterprise-grade high-def conference camera and our integrated Windows 10 computer module – for a complete huddle room solution that pairs easily with your Elo 4K display and current software.”

The Huddle Kit solution simplifies the selection, installation, and use of collaboration technology and provides an open platform supporting enterprise applications and popular third-party video conferencing software, including Microsoft Teams, Zoom, Cisco Webex, GoToMeeting and BlueJeans.

Elo Huddle Kit accessories pair easily with Elo's 55- or 65-inch 53-Series displays and include:

- Conference Camera with capability to attach to any Elo Edge Connect™ device, full HD video, wide viewing angles and 30° multi-axis tilt for vertical and horizontal adjustment
- Powerful i5 Windows 10 slide-in computer module
- Digital stylus pen
- Pre-loaded dashboard for easy navigation to software applications including a pre-installed whiteboarding and wireless content-sharing software trial

In addition to supporting video conferencing, the Elo Huddle Kit comes ready with Qwizdom's annotation and whiteboarding software and a full set of corporate features, such as multi-user writing and drawing, handwriting recognition, and full multimedia integration and capture. Also included is a free 30-day trial of DisplayNote's Launcher for easy navigation and Montage for wireless content sharing from any device onto your Elo display without messy cables or time-consuming connection struggles.

Elo offers a complimentary, three-year standard warranty on all Huddle Kits with optional advance unit replacement and extended warranty coverage for the computer module.
