

NTA EXPANDS TEAM

NTA has welcomed a couple of telecoms stalwarts into its growing team.

Kevin Burns, who has been involved in the industry since Buzby was around, is now looking after everything operational at NTA.

As of 20th July, Cliff Chandler has also joined the team. He too has been in the telecoms industry for many years, playing an integral role in positioning Inter-Tel, OAISYS, Mitel and ASC for growth. Cliff's main responsibilities are to manage and develop NTA's internal sales team and connect with existing resellers. He will also make new channel partners aware of the many offerings from NTA.

Paul White, managing director, NTA, commented, "I am thrilled to welcome Kevin and Cliff to the NTA family. Both come with vast experience in the industry, along with drive and leadership skills. Therefore, I am certain they will help reshape the sales-support function and enhance partner relations.

"We are due to release a number of new features over the coming weeks to increase the branded solution available to our partners, so we will utilise their expertise in bringing this to market."
